The government has stated over many years that the Greenbelt will be protected. In the current proposals to radically change the national planning system, Greenbelt land will be placed in the "Protected " category. The following sentence is copied from the government website:

"Development on Green Belt land will continue to be restricted as it is now with policy remaining a decision for local authorities as they prepare their plans."

SODC wished to abandon the unpopular local plan and start again from scratch as they had a mandate to do so in the local elections. However, Robert Jenrick called in the plan and instructed SODC to proceed with the plan rejected by the electorate. So we now have a plan which the electorate rejected and also goes against the governments own stated policy ambitions.

The inspector then accepted the three proposed housing locations on the edge of Oxford and increased the totals. The figure for Oxford's unmet housing need is demonstrably grossly inflated as is the overall Oxfordshire housing figure driven by the historically totally unrealistic economic growth figures, the ambition of the Oxford Growth Board an unelected business group.

You are proposing that in 30 years you will replicate the previous 1,000 years housing growth. All of this has been said many times through the whole process so I don't suppose anybody will take any notice of it this time either.

Q8. If your comments are more than 500 words long, please use the space below to provide a summary. You are not required to summarise your comments, but a summary would help us in our reporting.
