Building 3,000 houses in Chalgrove contradicts your objectives which are:

Support growth in locations that help reduce the need to travel

Contribute to tackling climate change

The spatial strategy supports growth in locations that help reduce the need to travel such as the focus at Science Vale, Towns and larger villages as well as allocations adjacent to the City of Oxford.

Sites well related to existing towns and villages and served by public transport or with good accessibility by foot or bicycle to the town centres of Didcot, Henley, Thame and Wallingford or a district centre within Oxford City

The approach supports that set out in the NPPF, in that the Policy concentrates higher densities where there are sustainable transport opportunities – including rail and buses, but also walking and cycling (meaning close to existing services, facilities, and employment opportunities)

Q8. If your comments are more than 500 words long, please use the space below to provide a summary. You are not required to summarise your comments, but a summary would help us in our reporting.

Choosing a village site like Chalgrove to build what is effectively a new town contradicts your own stated vision & objectives. This will nothing to tackle climate change. This is a site that is not well related to, served by public transport or with good accessibility by foot or bike to town centres of Didcot, Henley, Thame and Wallingford or a district centre within Oxford City.

Building 3000 houses in rural Chalgrove South Oxfordshire will not reduce the need to travel by car and shorten the length and duration of journeys. It will do nothing to alleviate climate change as it will only bring more cars onto the roads. New homes must be built within walking distance of employment areas, within walking distance of a railway station or with bike lanes. There is a climate EMERGENCY (The world is getting warmer, sea levels are rising, more frequent heat waves, extreme rainfall, wildfires and severe storms).

Building houses in a rural area like this contradicts your own objective of choosing sites well related to existing towns and villages and served by public transport or with good accessibility by foot or bicycle to the town centres of Didcot, Henley, Thame and Wallingford or a district centre within Oxford City.
